INSPECTION FINISHED AT CAMP

Followed by Muster—Union Services
Sunday Next—Fourth Regiment's
Social Affair

Camp McKinley, Aug. 7.—This afternoon Governor Nash, General Dick, General Speaks and other officers will get together to talk over the proposed division encampment here for next summer, though the matter may not be definitely decided at once. General McMakin, who comes from Toledo tomorrow, is known to favor the plan which is also pleasing to the Governor and Generals Dick, Speaks and others. Such an encampment would bring the whole Ohio National Guard, about 6,000 men, here at one time. To show that the plan will in all probability be carried out, it is known that Richard Shide who owns 80 acres adjoining the state ground was asked to call at division headquarters this afternoon. More land than the State owns here is needed for such an encampment. In fact there is not enough land for a brigade camp as 65 acres have been rented for present use of the Second brigade.

Governor Nash, General Dick and their staffs who rode down to Newark at 10 o'clock inspected the quarters of the provost guard and returned to camp before noon.

The inspection of regiments is to be finished today and the mustering of the Eighth Infantry has begun.

ENJOYABLE

Reception by Fourth Regiment Officers to Elks—Spanish War Veterans and Others Wednesday.

Camp McKinley, Aug. 7.—In the Fourth regiment last evening the greatest event of the week was the reception given by Colonel Coit and the officers of the regiment to the Elks, the Board of Trade and the Spanish-American War Veterans of Newark. This affair had been looked forward to by the members of the regiment and the invited guests with a great deal of interest and no one was disappointed. At 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon about one hundred Elks and Spanish-American War Veterans reported to Colonel Coit for duty. They were immediately assigned quarters over the entire boundaries of the camp of the regiment and it is needless to say that they were properly taken care of. The grand review and parade of the regiment was held in the octagon fort promptly at 5:30 o'clock and all of the guests as well as a large number of the citizens of the city witnessed the beautiful ceremony.

After parade had been finished the commanding officer, Colonel A. B. Coit, asked the visitors to form, and they marched into the camp of the Fourth in the rear of the celebrated Fourth regiment band.

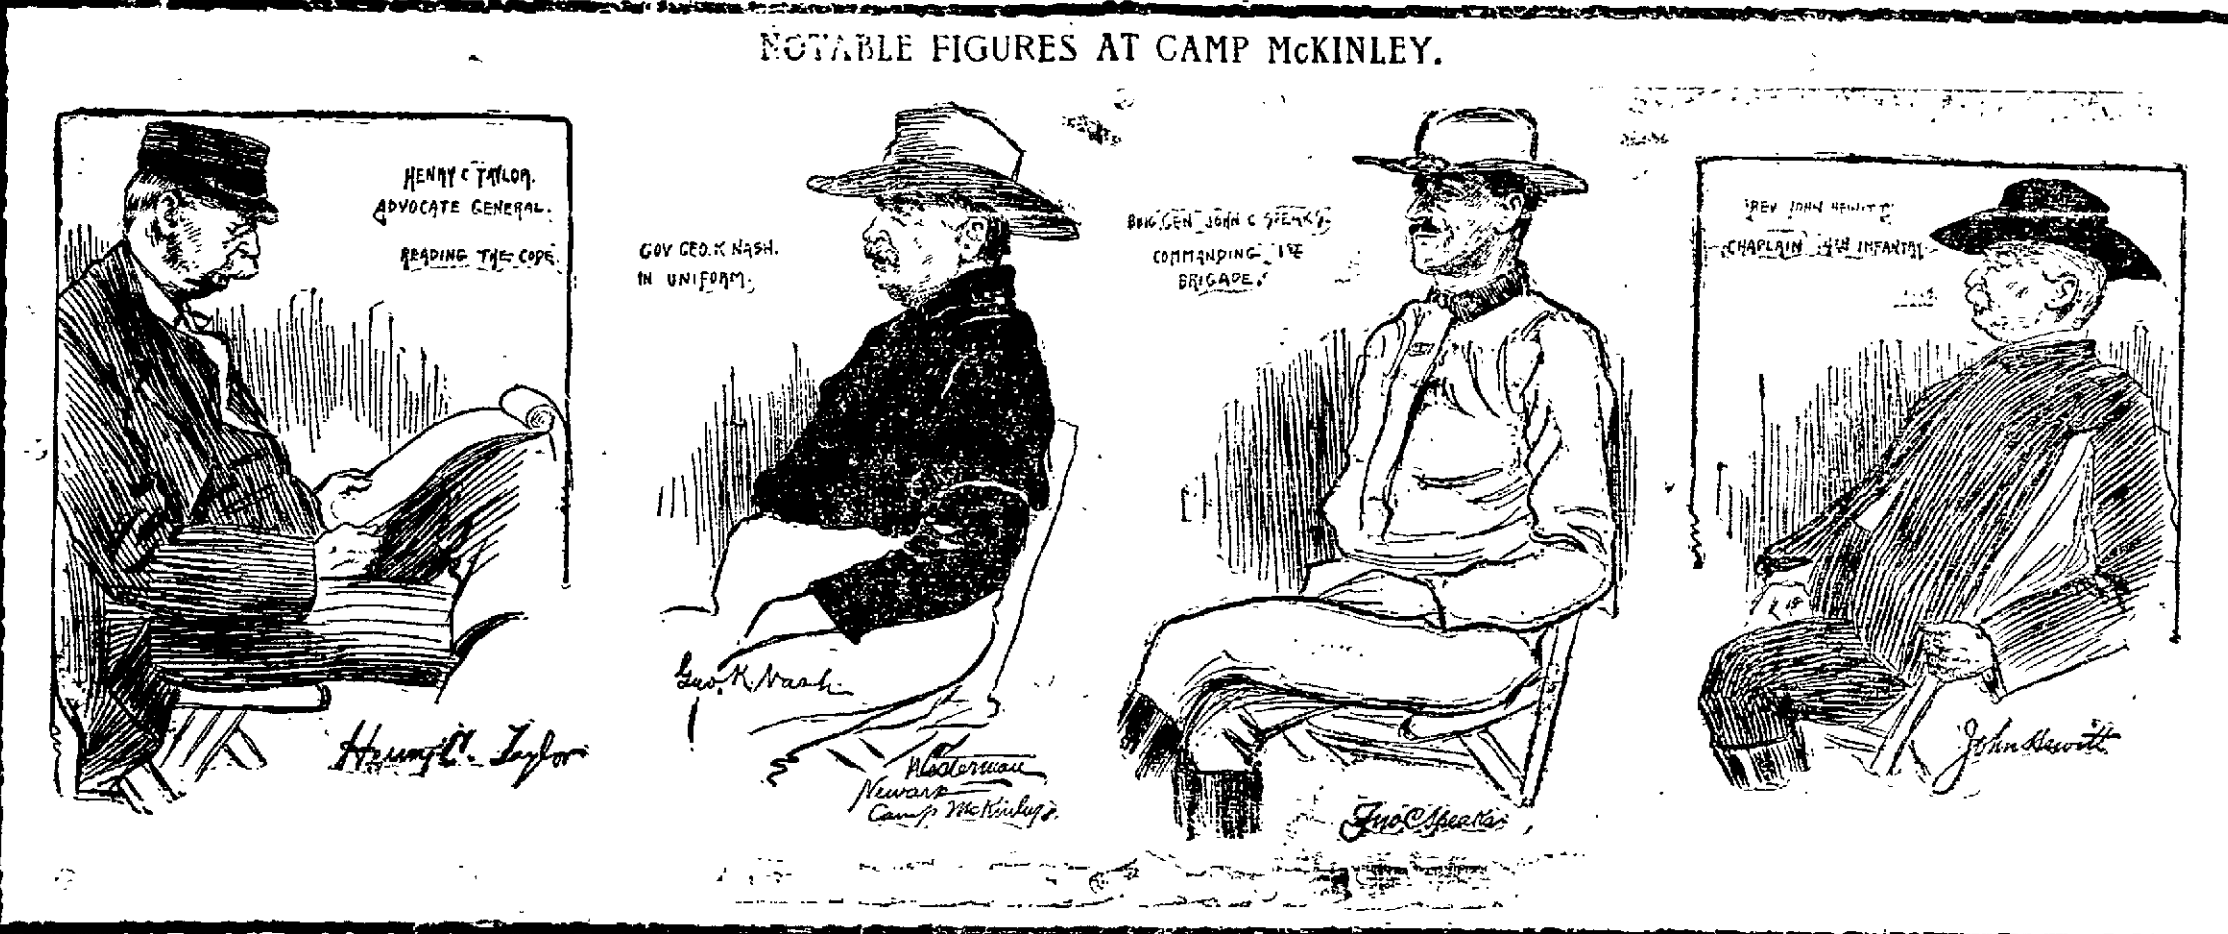

During the time clapping between the serving of the lunch and the parade the visitors were taken through the quarters of the men and shown how the soldiers messed.

At 7 o'clock the band appeared and until late in the evening favored the guests with music.

Until long after the concert there were many guests in camp and all were high in their praise of the hospitality of the Fourth. As a return for the entertainment the Elks of Newark have invited the officers of the regiment and all of the Elks in the brigade to a reception at the beautiful club rooms of the lodge. This reception will be held on Saturday evening and it is safe to say that all officers of the regiment who can possibly arrange to be present will not be found

NEXT SUMMER WILL PROBABLY SEE A DIVISION CAMP AT NEWARK.

DISPUTING OVER BODY

Further Details of the Intensely Tragic Death of Desperado, Harry Tracy, Who Fought Bravely to the Last—His Leg Was Broken.

Davenport, Wash., Aug. 7.—Nothing is left of Harry Tracy's outfit, but his body and that is closely guarded to keep the relic hunters from taking it away. When the corpse of the notorious bandit was brought to the local morgue yesterday the crowd became so demonstrative that the doors of the building were ordered closed. Later a number of sight seers were permitted to file in. Everyone wanted a relic and most of them got one. Some one even picked up the blood-stained handkerchief which had been used by Tracy to keep from bleeding to death. Before he could carry the grewsome relic away he had to do it up in paper as it was too wet to place in his pocket.

Another man got the strap which had been pulled around his leg to keep Tracy from bleeding to death. That too, is soaked with blood which ran from the upper wound. Many locks of hair were carried away.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 7.—Sheriff's posses and others are disputing the ownership of Outlaw Tracy's body. Tracy's death was intensely tragic. For two days he had terrorized the occupants of Eddy ranch, then five Creston citizens took their rifles and went after him. They knew their business and did it without flinching. Sighting the men, and securing his rifle, Tracy sought cover behind a hay stack, escaping several rifle bullets. The posse then found cover behind a large rock, and for a while it looked like a siege. Then Tracy broke for a small wheat field. This dash was his undoing, for he fell forward, a rifle bullet having broken one leg. Tracy plunged into the wheat, and his bloody trail there shows the savage determination of the man, for, after receiving the wound, he crawled 75 yards on his hands and knees in order to reach a spot that would command the posse and enable him to pour a merciless rifle fire upon them. But once only was he able to fire from this vantage point. Then, weakened by the loss of blood, he tried to staunch his wound, failed, and with his revolver sent a bullet through his brain.

None of the posse was wounded, though all of them had narrow escapes. When they were firing from the cover and every time this was done Tracy's rifle rang out and a bullet chipped the rock. Tracy's flight extended over a period of 60 days. He traveled over 100 miles across Oregon. The posse that will share the reward was made up as follows: C. A. Straub, deputy sheriff; Dr. E. C. Lanter, Maurice Smith, attorney; J. J. Morrison, railway section foreman, and Frank Lillengen.

They were working on the information of the Goldfinch youth, who had been forcibly made the companion of the Oregon convict for over 24 hours at the ranch of L. B. Eddy. The party made all possible haste in getting to the ranch. When within a few hundred yards of the farm they encountered Eddy mowing in one of his fields. While engaging him in conversation they saw a man issuing from the barn door. "Is that Tracy?" asked one of the party. "It surely is," replied Eddy. The party separated, Lanter and Smith accompanying Eddy in the direction of the barn, while the other two men swung around to the other side. Two of the man-hunters stepped behind the barn on a slight eminence, from which they could watch everything that went on, and Eddy continued on up to the door. Tracy came from the barn and began helping his host unhitch the horses. He carried no rifle, although he had his revolvers in place. The fugitive finally saw the men carrying rifles and turned sharply to Eddy, and said: "Who are those men?" "I don't see any men," said Eddy. Tracy pointed out the two men on the hill. Eddy informed his companion who the men were, and the outlaw made a leap for the barn door. The pursuers, stepping a bit closer, commanded "Hold up your hands." The outlaw jumped behind Eddy and first placed the farmer and then his horse between himself and the pursuers. He commanded the farmer to lead his horse to the barn, and remained under cover, moving toward shelter. When near the stable he broke and dashed inside. He quickly reappeared, rifle in hand, and started on a dead run. Running to a hay stack the desperado fired two shots, but without his usual luck, neither bullet taking effect. Without waiting for further fighting Tracy made a dash down the valley leading south from the barn, and headed for the brush. In an instant the man hunters were off in pursuit, firing as they ran. Coming to a rock, Tracy doctored behind it, and resting his gun on the rock began a fusillade. Eight shots in all were fired by the outlaw, not one hitting its mark. He bolted for a wheat field close by. At the edge of the field he stumbled, falling on his face, and crawled into the grain on his hands and knees. Shortly after Tracy disappeared a shot was heard from the direction of the wheat. Tracy's dead body was found lying amid the grain, with his face turned toward the sky. His left hand, thrown

KILLED IN A BAD WRECK NEAR RHODES, IOWA.

Fast Freight and Work Train on Milwaukee and St. Paul Collided on a Curve

Marshalltown, Ia., Aug. 7.—Two engineers and eleven laborers were killed yesterday afternoon in a collision two miles west of Rhodes, between a fast freight and a work train. Twenty-five others were injured. Eight bodies had been recovered up to 3 o'clock. One fireman's leg was cut off. The other fireman was saved by jumping. Seventy-eight laborers were on the work train. The freight met the work train going at full speed on a reverse curve.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—The following statement was issued from the office of the general superintendent of the Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad in this city regarding the accident at Marshalltown:

"From the information in the possession of the general superintendent's office it appears that the work train, in charge of Conductor Craig, started west from Rhodes without orders and notwithstanding the fact that the signal was set against the work train and the further fact that the telegraph operator informed Conductor Craig that the freight train had already left Collins, the next station west of Rhodes, and was then eastbound between the two places."

Collins, Ia., Aug. 7.—This morning's reports show that the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul wreck of the work train by the eastbound local yesterday afternoon here was the worst in years. The local collided with the work train, causing the death of 12 men and injuring 40 others, five of them fatally. The engines were completely demolished and about fifteen cars were broken to kindling wood. The dead men were found in every conceivable place and position. Doctors gathered all along the line of the Milwaukee, were hastened to the wreck. The wrecking trains succeeded in getting the track cleared by midnight.

KING'S CONDITION

Is Very Satisfactory According to the Morning Bulletin—He Stood the Trip Very Well

London, Aug. 7.—An official bulletin regarding the King's condition issued at Buckingham palace this morning says the journey from Coes to London had no effect upon his majesty. The bulletin reads: "The King bore the journey to London yesterday without the least fatigue. His majesty had a good night. He is in excellent health and the wound is practically healed. The next bulletin will be issued on Sunday. "TAVES, LAKING."

AN ISOLATED VILLAGE

In Northern Siberia Where People Exist But Do Not Live—They Had No News of the Outside World for Thirty Long Years.

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Henry Dewindt, the explorer, tells of an isolated village he visited in the northern part of Siberia, where the inhabitants do not live, only exist. Sredni Kolynsk is the name of the place. "This town," says Dewindt, "is the farthest north of any village in the world and is just on the edge of the arctic circle. It is four months from St. Petersburg. Something of its isolation may be guessed when I tell you that until we arrived there, Shredni Kolynsk had not been visited by any one from the outside world for 30 years. Think of it! Thirty years, nearly half a life time shut up, no knowledge of the outside world, no newspapers, nothing. The people welcomed us with open arms for we brought them news. "Life with them is simply existence. It is too cold to do anything but try to keep warm. They have no industries, no pursuits, except, of course, that they have to obtain food for themselves."

MASKED MEN

Flog Kentucky Farmers—Whitcaps Order the Victims to Leave the County.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Aug. 7.—Thirty masked men, mounted on swift horses and heavily armed, caused a reign of terror in the neighborhood of Perrysville, 10 miles from here Tuesday night. They severely flogged William Goodnight, George Russell and Wallace Bottom, residents of that section. The men rode into Perrysville from the direction of a large cave, north of town, which was the rendezvous of the toll gate raiders, who terrorized the community several years ago. They dashed through Perrysville and proceeded to the house of Goodnight on the Mackinac pike. Quickly, but quietly surrounding the house, they called for Goodnight to come out or be cremated, as they intended to burn the place if he refused. When Goodnight appeared, in response to their summons, he was securely bound, after which several members of the party wielded the lash unmercifully. He was then ordered to leave the country at once, or "get a rope" the next trip.

Leaving Goodnight, the whitcaps went to the home of George Russell, in the same neighborhood, and gave him a severe beating. They then pulled Wallace Bottom out of bed and gave him the same treatment. Goodnight says he recognized several of the party, and some arrests may follow.

Some time ago notes, purporting to be from Whitcaps, were left at the doors of several citizens, but they were treated as a joke.

Bedford, Ind., Fire.

Bedford, Ind., Aug. 7.—The Monday night house and passenger station is burning. The freight house has been entirely consumed and every car in the yards is on fire. The passenger station will be a total loss. The fire has spread to the Arthur Jordan poultry house. The damage will reach $100,000.

CHEERFULLY

Are the People Walking, Sentiment Being in Favor of Street Car Employees

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 7.—The strike of street car motormen and conductors continues today. The tie-up was more complete this morning than when the strike began yesterday. Absolutely no attempt was made to run cars during the night, and but two stray cars were seen on Chapel street, the principal thoroughfare, this morning. Public sentiment seems to be with the strikers and the citizens are walking cheerfully.

CHILD WIFE

Killed by Her Husband Who Then Used Same Revolver to End His Own Life.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—Riley Wark, a laborer, 27, last night killed his wife, Lillie, 16, and then committed suicide using a revolver. Two little girls and the parents of the child who witnessed the tragedy, which occurred on the street near their home. The couple had separated several times on account of the husband's cruelty and excessive drinking, and the double crime followed the refusal of the girl to again to live with Wark.

CHOLERA

Washington, Aug. 7.—Another long list of soldiers who have died of Asiatic cholera in the Philippines was received by the war department today from General Chaffee. It contains 32 names and covers a period of only two weeks. The organizations that have suffered the most from the diseases are the Second infantry, with ten deaths and the Ninth cavalry with 12.

CODE

Makers are Coming to Camp M'Kinley.

Draft To Be Submitted to Governor Nash.

NEW CODE WILL EXACT PAY FOR FRANCHISES.

A CLAUSE FOR THE INTERURBAN

Finishing Touches on the Bill—The Draft is All But Ready for the Legislature.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 7.—There will be but slight changes in the municipal code for villages from that now existing. Such is the statement that transpired from the executive chambers where Senator C. C. Connell, of Columbiana County; Senator Longworth, Smith Bennett and Wade Ellis have been in session for the past two days. As drafted the village code will provide for the election by the people of a mayor, marshal, treasurer and clerk, together with a council of varying membership. The present boards of trustees of waterworks, gas and electric light plants and cemeteries are to be merged in one board of general trustees made up of three elective members. They are to exercise all powers heretofore conferred upon existing trustees. The Council of the village under 5,000 is to consist of six members elected at large. If above that number there will be two additional councilmen for each 2,500 to be elected from councilmanic districts. The mayor is to be the police judge and in his absence the president of the council is to administer corrective justice. The present provisions as to health and sanitation are to endure, and power is given to the council to provide for the establishment of sewage disposal plants and farms. This provision is inserted because of the belief that either the supreme court or the General Assembly will soon take a radical step toward wiping out the rapidly growing evil of pollution of the water supply of the state. There are some minor details yet to be determined before the code bill is finally approved.

Today the party will go to Newark to visit Governor Nash at the state encampment grounds and lay the work of the past two days before him. In the matter of that part of the city code relating to the franchises, it is announced that a definite policy regarding their granting has been agreed upon. The decision has been reached that municipalities will no longer be allowed to practically give them away. Instead the code will provide for the levying of a mandatory tax probably in the form of a percentage in the gross receipts for the use of the streets and highways and for the privilege of doing business in the cities granting these franchises.

This, of course, will apply to street railways and electric, gas, telephone and messenger companies, and in fact all corporations furnishing what is known as public service. This same policy may be applied to counties, because of the growth of interurban electric lines and telephone companies. As present the draft provides for Boards of Public service in cities, which are to be appointed by the mayors thereof. It is now being urged upon the code draftsmen that the appointive feature be stricken out and the board made elective. This pressure comes from machine politicians, who object to the provision which requires minority representation on the board. Originally it was contemplated making the board bi-partisan, but violent objection was made to this day by the political leaders, who wanted a whole hog or none. The whittling process is therefore still going on. As the matter stands today the draft of the Nash code bill is practically complete, and it is up to the Governor to put such final touches upon it as he may deem proper.

Next Monday the State Bar Association Committee will meet the Governor in Columbus and go over the draft with him. After this polishing process (Continued on page 6.)

As usual, the Advocate evades the issue, and does not answer the question put to it by the American Tribune as to its position on municipal ownership of street railroads. As an artful dodger, that paper has no superior.—American-Tribune.

As there is no law on the statute books authorizing municipal ownership of street railroads, the Advocate is certainly opposed to your illegal sham. That it is one of the A-T's regular tricks of deceit in pretending to favor such an absurd proposition is well understood by the intelligent people of this city. In fact it is arousing renewed comment over the course of that paper last spring when it opposed city ownership of water works, that is authorized by law, and when its opposition meant the binding of the city in another 20 years contract at the water company's own terms. The A-T. is welcome to a monopoly of all shams and tricks of deceit.

Congressman Babcock who a year ago vigorously defended his bill to reduce the duties on protected articles sold more cheaply abroad than here, now abandons his ground and defends the practice he sought to stop. "It is a rule of trade that surplus products must not be dumped onto the home market to demoralize it, but must be sold in an outside market." So that is officially the Republican idea—to give the foreigner the benefit of low prices in order to sustain the monopoly prices at home! This ought to open the eyes of the people who find it difficult to make their incomes equal their expenses as to the true inwardness of the policy that breeds trusts, combines and the robbery of the consumer.

When President Cleveland used a fourth-rate old government tub to go on a fishing excursion how our dear Republican contemporaries did howl about it! But now, when President Roosevelt uses the magnificent government cruiser Mayflower as a family yacht and employs the Sylph as a dispatch boat to bring Senator Platt and other guests to his home for a political confab, these whippersnappers of the public treasury and foes of privilege are as mum as an oyster. Why is this thus?

The capitalization of the big meat combine is estimated at $210,000,000. Just think: all that money will be invested in overcharging the people for steaks and taking advantage of the mistakes of the administration.

A Story of Queensland's Mines.

Three men had arranged for a blast of dynamite. Two of them walk away, while the other lights the fuse. The fuse being lighted, the man throws the lighted match aside. It drops into a keg of gunpowder, and he is blown up.

He falls, lacerated and burned, just across the hole where the dynamite is. His comrades see his danger, run forward and drag him away just in time. And they go on with their work as if nothing had happened.—Queensland In 1889.

The Source of Complexion.

According to Dr. York, offspring always takes the complexion from the father; hence, if a father of a negro baby has any white blood in his veins, the child at birth will be nearly as white as a Caucasian. On the other hand, the child of a white mother and a black father will, after a month's time, be nearly as black as the full blooded negro.—London Standard.

Hope for the Future.

"Come, come," cried the candidate's friend, "don't be discouraged so easily."

"But I'm sure to be beaten," replied the candidate dismally.

MR. BOWSER'S LATEST

HE TAKES UP THE STUDY OF ENTOMOLOGY FOR A CHANGE.

It Was Very Interesting at First, but While Hunting For Grasshoppers the Amateur Entomologist Had a Narrow Escape.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

MR. BOWSER was half an hour late in reaching home the other evening, and Mrs. Bowser was wondering whether the police or kidnappers had got hold of him when he turned up with a bland expression of countenance and explained:

"I had a call from Professor Girdlestone just as I was ready to leave the office and was therefore detained for a few minutes."

"How much did he want to borrow?" innocently asked Mrs. Bowser.

"Borrow? Borrow? Who said he wanted to borrow?"

"No one, but I thought he might have heard of you and dropped in to ask a loan."

"What sort of talk is this?" demanded Mr. Bowser as he flushed up and grew belligerent. "Do you mean that Professor Girdlestone might have heard of me as a soft snap?"

"But you do lend money, don't you?"

"Never! Never in this living world! I never loaned a red cent to any human being in all my life, and you know it."

"I thought you told me of about fifty different parties who had deadbeat you."

"Never! I never told you of one. No man has ever deadbeat me. The idea that a man like Professor Girdlestone cannot call on me without wanting to work me for a loan! I don't like such innuendoes, and I want no more of them."

"I don't remember to have ever heard floor when the cat leaped off the lounge and snapped him up.

"By thunder!" shouted Mr. Bowser as soon as he could get his breath. "By thunder and Satan and Mars and the great hornspoon, but I'll have her life for that!"

He didn't get it, though. With the dead hopper in her mouth the cat made three circles of the room and then went out of an open window into the back yard, and the study of entomology was knocked into a cocked hat for the time being.

"But you can easily get another," suggested Mrs. Bowser in a consoling way.

"I shall get another, of course," replied Mr. Bowser, "and it is needless to add that a painful death awaits that cat tomorrow morning. She shall die by inches. I presume I shall have to walk a mile or so to and another hopper, but at the same time I may solve the question of whether he sleeps or not. There should be plenty of them in the suburbs."

"But you won't be so foolish as to go hunting grasshoppers at night," she protested.

"Certainly I will. I have promised to observe the insect and report, and I propose to do it. If I'm not back by 10 o'clock, you can go to bed. I may have opportunity to study the hopper on his native heath, and if so it would be much better."

Mrs. Bowser argued and protested, but without avail. Mr. Bowser felt that the scientific world awaited his decision, and he clapped on his hat and started off. The cat saw him depart and incoherently howled, but conscience had been aroused too late. Mr. Bowser had walked fully a mile before he reached an expanse of vacant real estate on which he might hope to find grasshoppers resting after their hopeful toil of the day. He turned aside and got down on his knees to search about, and he had been at work for ten minutes without making a discovery when a man came across the unfenced field with a club in his hand and called out:

"Now, then, what in blazes are you doing here?"

"I'm looking for grasshoppers," replied Mr. Bowser as he rose up.

"What? What's that? Say, you old bloke, don't try to guy me! I'm on to your bigger'n a house. You have buried stolen property here and are trying to find it."

"My dear sir, I—"

"Get out!"

"I want to say—"

But the man rushed at him with up-lifted club, and Mr. Bowser had to put his best foot foremost to get away. He covered half a mile of highway before he stopped, and he had sat down to get his breath when two men and a dog came along. The men might have passed him, but the dog spotted him at once and rushed upon him with such violence that he was knocked over. His fellows brought the men to him, and one of them piled on to him at once and shouted to his companion:

"Grab hold of his foot, Jim! We've got the thief who has been stealing our chickens! Lie still, you old skulk, or I'll knock the top of your head off!"

Mr. Bowser started in to explain, but he had only got as far as to give his name and address when the man gave him a wallop and cried out:

"You old liar, but don't think to deceive us! Where are your partners in this chicken business?"

A second explanation was attempted. This one included Professor Girdlestone and grasshoppers, but the assailants shouted their disbelief and rage and thumped Mr. Bowser on twenty-seven different portions of his anatomy.

How he got to his feet, how he fought for his life, how he fled and fell over obstructions, but finally left even the dog behind, are matters that must be suppressed until Mr. Bowser is at rest and some other brain has solved the grasshopper question. He reached home at midnight. He was a human wreck. Mrs. Bowser and the cat were waiting his arrival, and they stood before him as he opened the door.

"About grasshoppers?" queried Mrs. Bowser after a long look at him.

He uttered no word in reply.

"Do they sleep at night, or do they remain awake to run folks all over the country and tear the clothes off their backs?"

Mr. Bowser looked from her to the cat and back, scratched his head in a dazed way and then slowly climbed the stairs and disappeared.

BOERS NEED LIVE STOCK.

Demand For American Sheep and Cattle in South Africa.

The American farm that was drawn upon to supply horses and mules during the war in South Africa is to be drawn upon again to repair the havoc wrought by the war, says a special dispatch from Washington to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Mr. Wilson, secretary of agriculture, has received a letter from E. R. Gobler, a prominent citizen of the Orange Free State, stating that there is already a heavy demand in South Africa, particularly in the Orange Free State, for sheep and cattle for breeding, dairy and slaughtering purposes.

During the war, Mr. Gobler writes, the Boers were compelled to kill their live stock for subsistence and that they were unable to care for their herds or their crops. As a result the farms have well nigh been stripped of live stock of all kinds, and the demand is strongly in favor of securing American stock for the ranges, feed stalls and dairies. Mr. Gobler has also informed the secretary of agriculture that there is a large demand for machinery and agricultural implements of all kinds to replace the supply that was destroyed during the progress of the war.

POCKET CASH REGISTER.

Novel Machine That Will Ring Up Expenditures of Shoppers.

A cash register to be carried in the pocket is the latest novelty to be added to the list of Minneapolis manufactures, says the St. Louis Republic. It is a device by which a shopper may ring up the nickels as she spends them and thus keep exact tab on her financial status. Also the commercial traveler when he pays a hotel bill may avoid the brain racking ordeal of filling out his expense account.

The pocket cash register was invented by Eli Zimmerman, a salesman. The register will record in amounts not less than 5 cents each up to a total of $100 before resetting. In dimensions it is 2 1/2 inches long and 1 1/4 wide and a quarter of an inch in thickness.

It is made of aluminum and weighs little. On the face is the register, the first two indicators being for dollars and the third for cents. On the reverse side is the key for registering.

CAMP M'KINLEY

on duty with the regiment that evening.

The guests of the regiment were as follows:

Members of Newark lodge No. 391 B. P. O. E.—Past E. R., E. J. Koos, Past E. R., Captain F. G. Warden, E. R., Dr. G. H. Woods, E. L., K. D. M. Smith, Esquire, F. T. Maurath, I. N., S. R. Miller, Trustee D. Althool, F. J. Bader, G. F. Bowers, S. P. Brown, J. G. Bowers, E. W. Crayton, Roe Emerson, F. Gleichauf, Chas.

come from Toledo tomorrow.

Camp McKinley, Aug. 7.—Wednesday afternoon was one of the busiest yet spent by the officers and men of the Second Brigade, and the entire time was put in profitably to the men, who were thoroughly tired out by night.

General Dick's arrival made little change in the routine. He got into camp at nearly noon, and immediately after mess he was in the saddle, and in company with Governor Nash rode over the camp, down each company street and inspected the cook shacks.

The feature of the afternoon was a

Among the Spanish-American War Veterans were Commander Chas. Adams, Adjutant Dell Farmer, Sol Effinger, Robert Swartz, Will Evans, Frank Alexander, William Swaggart, Captain G. C. Crawford, Major Elmer Blizard, Price and a number from other regiments in the Brigade.

Messrs. C. C. Metz and Edward King were also guests of the regiment.

CAPT. F. S. GORDER.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

On Sunday instead of having the regular regimental religious service, there will be a grand union service of all the regiments. All five bands of the Brigade will be present, and during the services will render the favorite hymns of the late President McKinley, "Lead, Kindly Light," "Nearer, My God to Thee," and "America." Governor Nash had arranged to attend services with the Fourth regiment on Sunday, but owing to a change in the program will attend the union services with General J. C. Speaks and staff and other officers.

The Governor's staff went over to Buckeye Lake on Wednesday evening and were the guests of Col. W. C. Wells.

The Governor was given a fine reception by the Engineers Band on Wednesday evening.

The Cleveland Engineers were inspected by Col. Taylor today. Capt. Pope was officer of the day in the Engineers Camp today.

Gen. W. V. McMakin is expected to brigade review at 3 o'clock. The four regiments and battalion of Engineers were on the parade grounds, while Governor Nash and General Dick, with their staffs, reviewed them. The affair was a pretty and inspiring military spectacle, and was highly commended by the Commander-in-Chief, and division officers.

The Fourth and Eighth regiments held dress parade in the octagon, the regular drill grounds, where they were reviewed by the Governor and General Dick.

The Engineers also had parade in the octagon, while the Fifth regiment held theirs in the field adjoining the grounds, leased by the State for this purpose.

On Sunday there will be a reunion of as many ex-members of Co. G, Fourth regiment, as may be able to be present. Sunday is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the mustering in of the company. This is the Newark company and as many of the ex-members live here, there will no doubt be a large crowd present.

The company has had twenty-five years continuous service, being formerly with the old Seventeenth regiment. During the war with Spain they were part of the Seventh U. S. V. I., and after the war when the Fourth was re-organized, it was attached to that regiment owing to its nearness to Columbus.

The rifle shooting to determine the Fifth regiment's team, who will shoot for places on the State team next fall was held yesterday, but was not completed. The shooting was not of the very best, but this may be easily accounted for by the fact that the men went on the range immediately following a two hours hard drill.

The range officer was Lieutenant F. H. Waldeck of Co. D, Warren, who handled the competition admirably. He was ably assisted by Sergeant John C. Semon of Co. C, Cleveland. There were only two targets that could be used at first, but by dint of hard work five were gotten into commission and the shooting was much faster.

The highest scores were made by Sergeant Semon and Sergeant Bennecke of Co. K. Both men are from Cleveland. Semon made 84 out of a possible 100 at 200 yards, while Bennecke made 77. This score cannot be beaten in the competition to follow, so that they are assured of a place on the regimental team, and in all probability on the State team.

The Fourth regiment used the range Thursday, but the Fifth will be given another chance this week, and will complete the competitive shooting. Target practice has been and will continue to be a feature of the Fifth's work.

Today will occur a great wrestling match for $100 per side, between Privates Soppett of Co. C, and Dietrich of Co. K, both of Cleveland.

Both men are confident of victory and are backed by their respective companies. An intense rivalry exists between them, and the match will undoubtedly be a first-class one.

The officer of the day in the Fifth for Thursday was Captain E. G. Huntington of Co. M, Painesville, while Lieut. Perry, Co. E, Geneva, and Findlay, Co. A, Berea were officers of the guard.

Lieut. Frank Carroll, Co. K, Cleveland, will be in charge of the guard at Brigade headquarters.

Co. C of Cleveland is proud of the fact that they have gotten an orderly at every guard mount, and will try hard to keep up the record.

The dress parade of the Fifth regiment Wednesday night, was in charge of Lieut. Col. H. P. Ramey, and was reviewed by Col. Zimmerman.

Lieut. Col. H. P. Ramey of the Fifth, was Brigade officer of the day today, and he had complete control of the entire camp, under immediate orders from Brigadier General Speaks.

The Fifth regiment will be inspected Thursday by Col. S. F. Hanselman, Major D. C. Stearns, Lieut. Col. F. M. Ritzel of General Dick's staff, and Lieut. Col. O. J. Hopkins of the Adjutant General's office.

James C. Monnette, Jr., is here with the Eighth regiment. Mr. Monnette is connected with the Gallon, Ohio, Leader.

Captain Money Penny, commissary of the Fourth regiment, who was called to his home in Columbus, returned to camp on Wednesday.

The members of the Fourth regiment have signed up the muster rolls, preparatory to drawing their pay.

Private Harmon of Co. G, who has been sick, has recovered, and reported for duty.

Mr. Sinks, a prominent banker of Columbus, representing the Board of Trade of that city, is the guest of Col. Coit, and on Wednesday night assisted in receiving the guests at the reception given by the officers of the regiment.

Captain R. Ross Shaw of Columbus, former Adjutant of the regiment, was the guest of the Fourth on Wednesday.

COL. CHAS. X. ZIMERMAN, Fifth Regt., Cleveland.

Grand reviews are scheduled for tomorrow and for Sunday. The reviews will be conducted within the octagon fort and will be an inspiring sight. The Fourth, Fifth, Seventh and Eighth regiments of infantry and the Engineers will pass in review before Governor George K. Nash, the commander-in-chief, and Major General C. W. F. Dick. The inspection of the regiments was finished today and the troops will probably be mustered for pay Saturday.

Since Monday there have been rumors of trouble brewing between the Fourth regiment and headquarters, but when approached on the subject the officers emphatically deny that there is even a suspicion of trouble. From all outward appearances, things are lovely and from what the officers say one is led to reach the same conclusion. It is noted that the other night when the Fourth Ohio had its celebration in commemoration of the skirmish at Guayma, Colonel Coit and his men visited headquarters and extended and received a very cordial greeting and, in the speechmaking Col. Coit and General Speaks threw bouquets at each other showing that they are the best of friends.

This is the program for the rest of the camp: Today, general routine, last of the inspection of regiments and work on the rifle range; Friday, Review of the Brigade, routine and rifle range; Saturday, Muster; Sunday, Brigade review, religious services and entertainment of visitors; Monday, get away.

The Advocate is again indebted today to the Ohio State Journal for use of one of Artist H. J. Desterman's drawing which appears on the first page of this issue. To those who know Henry C. FOURTH REGIMENT.

The officer of the day in the Fourth regiment today is Captain Chenoweth of Company L of London, and the officers of the guard are Lieuts. Davis, Company C and Ramsey, Company M.

Lieut. Findlay, Company E of the Fourth is on brigade guard duty today. Captain D. G. Simpson of the Eighth is medical relief officer today.

the duties of the soldier and the company is not behind in anything that helps to make a military company.

Sergeant Deedin, who was severely injured Sunday by falling from a wagon, is considerably improved, although he still carries his right arm in a sling. Lieut. George Henry had as guests last evening Mrs. Henry and children, Mr. and Mrs. Kiser of Wheeling, W. Va., who are visitors at the Henry home, and Mrs. Smith and two daughters of Newark.

Private Crabbin and John Mix of the company are on permanent detail at the regimental commissary tent and are having a good time.

Edgar Brice, a former company man has re-enlisted in the company and has been appointed a musician, the company having been allowed two trumpeters.

Mr. Charles C. Metz, one of the corporals in the first company G, which was organized in 1877, was a visitor at the company quarters last evening.

A number of Elks who are members of the band of the Fifth regiment and the Elks in the Engineers' battalion, were entertained at the Elks club rooms in Newark last evening.

Company D of Warren was organized when the call was made for volunteers for the Spanish American war. When the call was issued by Colonel Ritzel, now of General Dick's staff, enough men to make the full quota of the command stepped upon the platform and swore they would uphold the flag of the nation. Colonel Ritzel was elected Captain and Mr. Ramey, who is now the Lieutenant Colonel of the Fifth, was made First Lieutenant. The company had a hard time trying to get into the United States service and it was only after repeated attempts that they secured an order to be mustered into the service. The company was called the reserve and remained in service for several months when they were mustered out, not having

CAN'T KEEP IT UP.

Can't Deceive Newark People Very Long—They Learn Quickly.

It is sometimes an easy matter to fool the public, but you can't keep it up very long. They are sure to find you out; and every time a man is fooled another skeptic is made. We are naturally skeptically when reading a published statement given by some stranger residing in a far-away place, but the circumstances are entirely different when home endorsement is presented. The testimony of local citizens renders deceit impossible. It is so easy for you to investigate. Read this case:

Mrs. N. W. Jarvis, No. 105 North Fifth street, says: "When I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Crayton's drug store I had been sick for some time. In fact I could not do anything, I felt so poorly. I had a severe pain in my back and was terribly weak. I had been taking treatment first one and then another, but I felt no better. My attention was drawn to a reading notice in our paper about Doan's Kidney Pills. Bad backs like mine had been cured, could mine be also? I decided to try them. They did for me what other medicines failed to do. They gently aided the kidneys and the pain in the back over these organs left me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

EFFORT

MADE BY BOARD OF TRADE TO SECURE PLANT

That James E. Thomas Company Will Build—Foundry to Cost One Hundred Thousand

This afternoon a committee from the Newark Board of Trade is conferring with Mr. Edward Thomas of the Jas. E. Thomas Company, with the hope of securing for Newark the one hundred thousand dollar foundry which the James E. Thomas Company will build either here or at some point near Pittsburgh.

It is not the intention of the Thomas Company to abandon the present plant, but to erect a new plant which will be entirely separate from the present foundry, if it is built in Newark, but it is by no means certain that the plant will be built here. An earnest effort is being made by the Board of Trade to secure this new industry for the city.

TOM WILSON'S WASHBOWL.

President Roosevelt May Use It In North Carolina Bear Hunt.

Real mountaineers of North Carolina, according to the Chicago Tribune, rarely ever are the owners of washbasins. A wooden, mossy trough brings the water from the spring to the family spout, as it is called. There the entire family perform their morning ablutions. Visitors are sometimes given a breadpan or a dishpan for their morning bath.

Just at this time the Asheville (N. C.) papers are printing a good deal of a visit that the president probably will make to Senator Pritchard in the fall and of a proposed bear hunt over Caney river, "Big Tom's" country. "Big Tom" Wilson is known far and wide. His home is in the heart of the big hills under the shadow of the great dome. Big Tom is said to have killed more bears than any man in the state, and it seems that the president wants to meet him.

Big Tom's home is primitive. His own bath is taken at the family spout, where the water leaps clear as crystal and cold as ice, but for his friends he has something unique in a washbowl. It is a brass preserving kettle, polished and shiny, and it is brought in with your soap and towel. Many people after a visit to Big Tom's have spoken of the preserving kettle washbowl. Will it be offered to the president, or will Big Tom descend into the valley and purchase a real bowl and pitcher for so distinguished and honored a guest?

W. I. DOWNEY

Former Newark Artist Does Work in Columbus That Brings Words of Praise.

A recent number of "The Cast" at Columbus contains a complimentary notice of a former Newark man, W. I. Downey. It says:

"Some of the most beautiful frescoes and wall decorating that has ever been done in this city is now in point of completion at the Great Southern cafe and buffet.

"Mr. Will I. Downey, the artist who is doing the work is one of the very best decorators in the United States, and if his work in this city is a sample of the work that he has done elsewhere he is entitled and well qualified to stand at the head of artists in this line.

"There is more difference than some people imagine in painting on a smooth tightly stretched canvas and in working on a wall that is very apt to be rough and is often uneven and which very often needs several coats of treating before the paint will even adhere to it.

"Mr. Downey has been working on the cafe and the buffet for not more than several weeks and in that time he has accomplished wonders. To be exact he has designed and painted at least twenty panels that will aggregate about 3x12 or 15 feet, frescoed about 250 feet of wall space and tinted and paneled the ceilings of both rooms.

"To do this work and do it as it should be done requires an artist of no mean ability but in preparing the wall for work, in designing the figures and posing the models, and finally, in painting in the finished work, Mr. Downey has accomplished the work unaided, and he has succeeded in making these rooms two of the handsomest in the city.

His work is life-like, thorough and artistic to a degree. His colorings leave nothing to be desired and his subjects have been selected with a care that shows that an artist of true ability has had charge of the work."

YOUNG GATES AS A JOKER.

Financier's Son Paid Profits to a Client in 40,000 New Pennies.

Charles G. Gates, a member of a famous brokerage firm in New York and son of John W. Gates, proved the other afternoon to one of his customers that he could do exactly as he was told, says The New York World.

"A friend of mine dropped in here just before noon," said young Gates to Colonel Elwood, "and asked me to sell a couple of hundred shares of something for him, as he needed the money. I told him it wasn't the sort of a market to sell anything short in, but that if he would order me to buy something I'd buy some stuff that would go up a couple of points and give him some spending money quick. He told me to go ahead, and I bought him 200 Louisville and Nashville. It went up two points, and I closed it out for him, making $400.

"I told him about it over the phone, but he evidently thought I was 'jollin' him, and he laughed and said if I had a profit for him to send it over to him in pennies. He'll drop dead in about twenty minutes, because I'm going to obey orders to the letter, and I've just sent two of the porters over to the subtreasury to get 40,000 new pennies. They've each got a half bushel sack to carry the stuff in, and when they land at my friend's office and dump his profit on the floor he'll think that he's a stockholder in a copper mine and that he's collecting his profits in raw material."

The programme was carried out, but the porters who carried the great mass of pennies to the office of the investor wouldn't repeat what he said. Mr. Gates wouldn't give the name of the victim of the joke.

King Edward's Popularity.

Perhaps the essence of King Edward's great popularity is his democratic spirit, his unpretentiousness, writes Sydney Brooks in Harper's Weekly. He reserves ceremony for ceremonial occasions; at other times he is as approachable as a boy. Of course, the recognized limits of Englishman would dream of overstepping, as the most radical of his subjects could desire. The people think of him as a "good fellow," a man of the world with tact, experience, kindness and an instinct for saying and doing the right thing at the right moment. This is the popular view of King Edward. It may or may not be the right one; but the fact that ninety-eight out of every hundred people hold it gives the measure of the anxiety and solicitude with which the progress of his illness is being watched.

John Robinson's Great World's Expo position—Notably Augmented for the Season.

Probably the most colossal as well as the most nervy amusement venture of the day is that inaugurated this season by the management of the John Robinson show—a venture requiring an expenditure so enormous that a statement of the amount would scarcely be credited by the general reader. We allude to the production on a scale of magnitude and opulent splendor never precedent to the new Biblical spectacle of Solomon His Temple and the Queen of Sheba, a spectacle prolific in grand scenic effect, impressive in pomp and pageantry, realistic in its reproductions of the patriarchal era sacred in its Biblical associations, and entrancing in the ballets, poses, marchings and groupings. The visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon's court with her immense and richly costumed retinue, the Judgment of Solomon, the sacrifices in the Temple, Solomon's seven hundred wives, the grand Processional Pageant to meet and welcome Sheba's lovely queen to the walls and City of Jerusalem, the Inner Court of Solomon's Temple, the great throne of Ivory, the Sacrificial Ceremonies, the Sacred Ark of the Covenant, the bewitching ballets of lovely Cresset Girls, and myriad features that cannot be given in detail, are the attractions this wondrous spectacle presents. With such a desirable feature added to the admirable Circus and vast Menagerie, and the Royal Roman Hippodrome, the many canvases, spacious as they are, should and will be packed from center to circumference each afternoon and evening. The show will exhibit at Newark on next Wednesday, August 13.

Thomas J. Christian, Jr.

The funeral of the late Mr. Thomas J. Christian, Jr., took place from the undertaking establishment of Mr. James A. McGonagle, on West Main street, on Friday. The interment was in the family lot, in Cedar Hill cemetery. The funeral was a quiet one, the deceased having but few relatives here, most of the immediate family having preceded him to the spirit world. Rev. L. S. Boyce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiated in his usual impressive manner, and all the details were arranged with excellent care and taste. The deceased was the youngest son of the late Thomas J. Christian, Sr., one of nature's noblemen, and leaves but one sister, not now a resident of Newark, as the only survivor of the once large and happy family. Mr. Dash Sargent, a brother-in-law, was in the far West and could not get here in time for the funeral. Gentle, kind and loving in life, may the deceased find peace in death and a glad reunion with the loved ones before. A FRIEND.

SWISHERS

WILL NOT JOIN IN THE BIG NEW STOGIE TRUST

Definite Announcement of This Fact Was Made Thursday by the Newark Firm

Swisher Brothers, the cigar manufacturers of this city, who employ over 200 hands at Newark, and who operate a big branch factory at Somerset, will not join the new cigar trust. The Swisher Brothers made this definite announcement this afternoon.

The United States Cigar company was recently organized under the laws of Delaware and was made up of a dozen of the leading cigar and stogie manufacturers of the country. It was announced that the Swisher Brothers were to join the new combination, whose headquarters are to be in Pittsburgh.

After carefully going over the proposition the local dealers decided that they are doing well enough as it is and are contented to remain in the business independently of the new trust.

Explorer's Wife Talks of Her Mission to the Arctic.

WILL BRING HER HUSBAND BACK

Not Sure That He Will Be at Cape Sabine to Meet Her—Worried Because His Party Has Been Without a Physician—Glad That It Will Be Her Husband's Last Polar Trip.

Mrs. Robert E. Peary, wife of the arctic explorer, stayed at Pleasantdale, near Bangor, Me., for some days at the home of her husband's people resting before she resumed her journey to Sydney, C. B., where she was to join the steamer Windward, bound north to meet Lieutenant Peary's party, says the New York Tribune. "From Sydney," said Mrs. Peary, "we shall sail straight north to Etah, on the coast of Iceland, the southern shore of Smith sound. This trip will probably require about three weeks, and after that will come the most uncertain part of the expedition.

"We suppose that Mr. Peary and his party are at Cape Sabine, on the opposite shore of the sound. The sound is about twenty-seven miles across, and should it be free from ice we ought to cross in a week. Once we were ten days in getting across, the ice closing in around us so that we could make no progress in any direction. If we reach the sound, cross safely, have no delay in meeting with Mr. Peary and his party at Cape Sabine and can return before the sound fills with ice, this fifth and last expedition will have been successful.

"A great many obstacles, however, may be met with. In the first place, we have no certain knowledge of where Mr. Peary is. The understanding was that the relief party was to meet him at Cape Sabine, but should he not be there and the natives have no information of him then there will be nothing to do but to wait until he comes.

"Might not that mean another winter in the ice? I don't know. Naturally we shall not return without him. I should not care to put in another winter like that one I spent in waiting for him. I knew at that time what it means to be desperately poor. I had not even cotton thread to mend Marie's dresses when they became torn. I had finally to put her in furs, and had it not been for some woollens that Mr. Peary brought for the Eskimos, who would not wear them, I don't know what would have happened to us. However, the uncertainty was far worse than the darkness, the bitter cold and the poverty all put together.

"We have every hope, as we had when we started that time, that my husband will be waiting for us at Cape Sabine, but I confess that all of the circumstances attending this expedition are not so promising as I would like. For one thing, I am worried about the health of my husband and the members of his party. No other polar expedition, I think, has been without its physician, and the return of Dr. Dietrich, whose mind became unsettled and who left the party in spite of their protests, has, of course, increased the disadvantages under which they have worked.

"In other ways this journey to the north is the pleasantest I have ever made, because it is the last. Lieutenant Peary will positively come back this time for good, whatever may be the outcome of the expedition. Even if he has accomplished nothing since last I saw him his work in the cause of arctic exploration has, he feels, been of some value. For the last twelve years he has lived practically all of the time above latitude 70, and his return this fall will signalize the closing of his arctic campaigns. That is what I am thinking of in planning this expedition. It will be the last, and that makes it a pleasure."

Mrs. Peary discussed her trip to the frozen north as lightly as other women would a voyage across the Atlantic in one of the luxurious passenger liners.

Summer Vacations.

Whatever changes society may yet make in the distribution of time, it is safe to say that they will not greatly affect the summer vacation, says Leslie's Weekly. That interval of leisure, once regarded as a privilege of the wealthy, is now deemed a necessity, to be provided for as systematically as are other wants of life. Wisely used, its utility is undeniable. Men grow weary of incessant and unchanging occupation—as weary as Hegel was of overeducation and common sense. They have learned that the chase of the dollar and the acquisition of knowledge are not all there is in living. What they want is to recover their real selves, some relief from endless detail, some arrest of hurry.

Warrant for Jimmy Outcalt.

The case of Joseph H. Goss representing the United States Express company vs. Thomas C. Fowler, formerly manager of the defunct Zanesville base ball team and lessee of Gant park, was dismissed in Squire John A. Green's court Wednesday. The charge against Fowler was passing a worthless check in payment for base ball uniforms. The amount of the check was $120. The defendant made good the money and the case was dropped.

Fowler filed charges in Justice Griffith's court against James Outcalt and E. J. Anderson, former members of the Zanesville club, charging them with embezzling and larceny, respectively. The former, it is alleged, did not account to Fowler for certain money that came into his hands, while the latter is accused of appropriating a playing suit. Outcalt has gone to Columbus, and Anderson to Wheeling, W. Va., and service will have to be made on them in those places.—Thursday's Times-Recorder.

To Lower Pacing Record.

New York, Aug. 7.—The New York Trotting Association has arranged to have Dan Patch, the celebrated pacer, who went a mile in 2:00 3/4 at Columbus last Saturday, go against Star Pointer's record of 1:59 1/4 at the Brighton Beach meeting Saturday, August 16. The association will offer a purse of $5,000 for the event and this will be a substitute for a purse of $3,000 which it was intended to offer for a race between pacers.

M. E. McHenry, the driver of Dan Patch, preferred to go against the record rather than to engage in a race and he expresses the belief that Dan Patch will lower Star Pointer's time.

Grand Circuit Races.

Wednesday's grand circuit races at Buffalo resulted as follows:

2:14 pace, purse $2000; Twinkle (Hudson) won; Laconda (Broline) second; Roamer (Stahl) third; time

2:06 1-2, 2:07 1-2, 2:08 3-4, 2:10 3-4, 2:10 1-2.

2:10 pace, purse $1200; Auzella (Sanders) won; Edna Cook (Geers) (second); Autezella (Spear) third; time 2:10 3-4, 2:13 3-4.

2:06 pace, purse $1200; Audubon Boy (Hudson) won; Fannie Dillard (Snow) second; Shadow Chimes (Geers) third; time 2:06 1-2, 2:07.

Ball Players' Movements.

Captain James Outcalt of the defunct Zanesville ball team left Wednesday noon for Columbus where he will visit for some time. He received an offer for the balance of the season from Jamestown, N. Y., but could not come to terms with the management at that place. Captain Outcalt carries with him the best wishes of the Zanesville fans for a prosperous future both on and off the ball diamond. Outfielder Anderson leaves Thursday for Wheeling where he will play for the balance of the season. Cliff Hammond will join Dithridge at Sistersville, W. Va., Thursday.—Zanesville Signal.

Diavolo Badly Hurt.

London, Aug. 7.—Diavolo, the American bicyclist, sustained a terrible fall while performing his act of "looping the loop" at the Aquarium here. He was taken to Westminster hospital unconscious and is believed to have concussion of the brain. This is the third time he has fallen while performing this feat in the last ten days.

Many Newark people saw another "Diavolo" perform this thrilling feat successfully, at the Sells Forepaugh circus in Zanesville Tuesday.

Sporting Notes.

Cincinnati had hard luck at Brooklyn Wednesday. With the score 4 to 0 in their favor, the game was called in the second inning on account of rain.

Pittsburg won a five inning game from New York Wednesday, 2 to 0. Chesbro for the champions only allowed New York one hit in the five innings.

Mike Kahoe was away off Wednesday, and lost the game for St. Louis by a wild throw in the third inning, and stupid base running in the ninth.

BET PAID IN NOVEL WAY.

Band Played While Loser Rolled Peanut a Mile With a Crowbar.

James Coyle, according to a Philadelphia dispatch to the New York Times, paid his wager on the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight in a novel manner. Several hundred men and a brass band aided him in discharging his obligations. Coyle bet William H. Smith that Fitzsimmons would win. The loser was to roll a peanut with a crowbar from Penn street and Pulaski avenue to Washington lane and Germantown avenue, one mile.

After staying up all night to learn how the fight resulted Coyle, equipped with crowbar and peanut, assembled himself at the starting point. The crowbar weighed forty pounds, the peanut one-fourth of an ounce. Coyle wore a hat of straw.

The band played a funeral march as Coyle urged the peanut over the pavement with the point of the crowbar. Every few feet the peanut would roll into a crevice, and delicate manipulation with the crowbar was required to extricate it.

The distance was covered in two hours and a half.

THE STRANGER
OF TOWER HILL

(Original.)

In the reign of Bloody Mary there lived near Tower hill, in London an armor maker named Cronin. His home was kept for him by his only daughter, Cicely, who was of an extremely gentle disposition and withal so tender hearted that she would go out of her way to avoid treading on a worm. She was beloved by her father's assistant, John Gaunt, a plain, honest young fellow, who was respected by all who knew him. Cicely was favorably disposed to John Gaunt, but did not encourage his suit. Indeed she did not know her mind and was fearful of wounding him.

One morning she was going to the Thames to get a bucket of water, and while passing over Tower hill she met a man sauntering along pensively, as though he bore some weight upon his mind. Cicely was captivated by the stranger's appearance and especially by a certain somberness about him. At the moment they passed each other the tower clock struck 11. Cicely remembered the hour, and the next day she found herself impelled to take her bucket shortly before 11 to go again to the Thames for water, though she would not acknowledge to herself that she did so in the hope of meeting the stranger. She did meet him, and this time he looked at her with his melancholy eyes and said:

"If you are going to the river for water, I would gladly carry your bucket."

"It is very light," said Cicely, blushing. "It will be heavier when it is full."

The stranger spoke with so soft a voice and so respectfully that Cicely consented, and he walked with her to the river. She purposely told him that her father was Cronin, the armor maker, where she lived and all about herself, hoping that this would cause him to be equally frank with her, but he said nothing of himself, and all Cicely could get from him was that he was employed at the Tower. Nevertheless Cicely went home with her heart in a flutter.

Then came the revolt against the legitimate sovereign, headed by the Duke of Northumberland and aided by his son, Lord Guilford Dudley, to place the latter's wife, Lady Jane Grey, on the throne. One day Cicely saw armed men hurrying past her house to the Tower, from which suddenly burst forth the smoke of cannon. The advancing host stormed the fortress, swam the moat and, placing ladders against the walls, attempted to scale them—all in vain. The assault was a failure. The men who advocated the pretensions of Lady Jane Grey to the throne were driven off, and her cause was lost.

Soon after Cicely was notified that an attendant was wanted for a distinguished prisoner at the Tower, a woman in distress, who needed some one to wait upon her and soothe her. She followed the messenger, who led her to a room where the prisoner was confined, the Lady Jane Grey.

She whose head had been risked to win a crown was soon to lose that head upon the block. It became the work of the tender hearted Cicely to comfort, so far as she could, the noble lady who, though scarcely out of her teens, was called upon to play so tragic a part. Cicely read to her, prayed with her, often could not help weeping with her—in short, proved the companion that was needed to keep the condemned lady from despair during the trying period. So occupied was the armor maker's daughter that she never once thought of John Gaunt, though there was something in the gloom hanging over her dear mistress and herself that was constantly bringing up the melancholy stranger she had met on Tower hill. One day she was informed that John wished to see her, and when she went to him he offered to supply a saw with which she and her mistress might remove two of the bars at the window of the room they occupied, leaving sufficient space for Lady Jane Grey to pass through. John promised to be in the court at the appointed hour with man's attire, assist the noble lady from the window and after she had donned the clothes show her the way out of the Tower grounds.

Cicely hastened to propose the plan to the prisoner. The offer was refused. Lady Jane Grey relied upon such of her adherents as had not been arrested to do all they could for her and did not wish to embarrass them by an attempt which would likely be a failure.

But the Duke of Northumberland was in prison, and there was no one else to aid the condemned. The day of execution came at last, and Cicely, with streaming eyes, dressed her mistress for the last time. The image of John Gaunt, who had proved so kind, so thoughtful, offering to risk his life to please her, came up at times before Cicely, alternating with that of her stranger lover, John seeming typical of hope, the stranger typical of despair.

When all was ready, the mournful procession proceeded from the prison to Tower hill, where was gathered an immense throng. Cicely supported her mistress, aiding her to mount the steps of the scaffold. There stood a muffled figure, leaning on an ax. Cicely looked from her mistress to the seat of upturned faces, and there, among them, was the sympathetic face of John Gaunt. When her eyes were turned again to her mistress, she was kneeling before the block. The muffled figure threw off his cloak, and there stood the stranger of Tower hill!

Cicely fainted and was handed down into the arms of John Gaunt. When she came to herself, she threw her arms about his neck and wept.

PHILIPPINE TOPICS.

Trip of an Educational Party Among the Igorrotes.

Some very interesting reports of a half personal nature are coming into the war department from the Philippines, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post. One of the district superintendents of education writes picturesquely of the Igorrotes and their out of door life. He had gone to Benguet to help establish an agricultural school. The cooler climate and clearer atmosphere made open air exercises possible there and a fire at evening necessary. The pine woods, he writes, suggested home, while the mountain scenery was varied and beautiful. The people were simple, frank and honest and possessed a sense of humor not to be observed in members of the Christian tribes. Their religion seemed to be very like that of the North American Indian. From a schoolboy the writer learned that they believed the sun to be the father of all, the moon a good big Igorrote and the stars good little Igorrotes. If the Igorrotes are good, the sun smiles, and if bad hides its face and weeps. They have many feasts and dances. In their dances the woman represents the dove and the man the crow.

In time the route to Benguet will be by railroad to Dagupan and thence by highway a distance of thirty-five miles to Baguio, the capital of Benguet. The government is constructing this road, but it takes much money, time and engineering skill. When it is completed, Benguet will be the health resort for resident Americans.

This educational party went from Manila to San Fernando by boat, then by an army ambulance a distance of twelve miles to Naguilan, where they took ponies. "When I saw my undersized pony," writes the narrator, "I felt as if I ought to carry him rather than be me. To see me mounted on the little fellow, with stirrups so short that my knees were none too far from my face, was to suggest vividly the smile of the 'improper fraction.'"

On the journey the party met many of the American teachers, both in their schools and in their homes. They seemed happy and interested in their work. Each teacher thought his town the finest, his pupils the brightest and his pony the best. Their attitude was generally encouraging. At Bangued, the capital of Abra province, school conditions are not so favorable. The teachers are more isolated and there is great difficulty in securing mail and supplies from Manila.

GOSPEL WITH A GUN.

Cowboy Preacher Going on Steamboat Evangelization Mission.

The Rev. S. G. Bettes, "the cowboy preacher," who opens his services with a demonstration of his ability to use the lasso, is building at Parkersburg, W. Va., with his own hands a boat 47 feet long, 18 feet beam and 5 feet deep, in which he and ten others expect to sail next spring for the headwaters of the Rio Negro in South America.

They will follow the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, cross the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean sea and ascend the Amazon 1200 miles and go nearly a thousand miles up the Rio Negro, says the New York World. Their purpose is to establish a Christian settlement in a place 500 miles from the nearest mission. They have bought 1,000 acres of timber land and will operate it to pay the expenses of their work. They will take rifles, shotguns and revolvers as well as Bibles.

BY STEVENSON'S JEKYLL-HYDE STORY.

This Vermont Man, Once in the Legislature, Has Been Thief for Years. Further Confession.

A press telegram to the Advocate yesterday told of the arrest and confession of Clarence Adams at Chester, Vt., who has proved to be a veritable Jekyll and Hyde. This most remarkable criminal has said that he was induced to begin his career of crime by reading Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

A special to this morning's Cincinnati Enquirer says: Adams was fascinated by the book and decided to emulate the double-sided hero villain. Most of his life Adams has been a respected resident of this place, and for 15 years, if not longer, he has been a thief. He has been elected to the Legislature, and while in Montpelier he engaged in midnight burglaries. He has been elected Select Councilman twice, and is now a trustee of the library. Adams is at his home under guard of two Constables, suffering from a wound he sustained from the spring gun set at Waterman's Mill, and which by wounding Adams, called attention to his amazing career. He has confessed to many crimes. But it is believed he has committed many thefts laid at the door of other men and which he now denies. When asked what influenced him to the life of a burglar he eyed his questioner a moment without making a reply, and then, with a half smile, he spoke: "Have you ever read 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde?' That book fascinated me the first time I read it. I was fascinated."

Veteran Troopers.

The Ohio State Journal of Wednesday, August 6, 1902, says:

"The 22nd annual reunion of the First Ohio cavalry regiment comes to Columbus this year instead of Marysville. The date is August 2. That date will complete 38 years since the Union troopers under General Kilpatrick made a raid around the Confederate forces under General Hood at Atlanta. It was at Lovejoy the two cavalry divisions made such a fight through the cavalry, artillery and infantry of the Confederates. A Thompson, the president, and Colonel W. L. Curry, the secretary of the organization are both of this city."

Company D of said regiment, was almost entirely from Licking county, Ohio. Captain Sempel G. Hamilton and Nathan Finnegan are still living in Newar, and John Wesley Realhorn and Mason H. Palmer are living at Kirkersville. A death record kept by that old veteran, Captain James H. Smith, tells the old story of 23 who have answered to the last roll call.

Sweetheart! how many thoughts
That word suggests
Of love, of happiness,
Of tears and jests.

Sweethearts! the word means two
With hearts united.
Lips that smile and meet,
And eyes delighted.

Married! their dreams are past
And laughed to scorn,
Lips that no longer smile,

When it was gained,
Laughing I throw
